Thankster and Honeymoonwishes Join Forces to Make Wedding Thank Yous Easier

>PRWEB.COM Newswire

New York, NY (PRWEB) August 21, 2013

Thankster.com and Honeymoonwishes.com have partnered to bring Thankster's unique service for creating and sending real thank you cards to users of Honeymoonwishes.com. Starting today, when Honeymoonwishes couples receive their gifts, they can easily and quickly send thank you cards that use real handwriting without having to actually write out every single card by hand.

"We've been very excited about this integration for awhile, because it's such a natural fit and addresses a real pain point for couples receiving a lot of gifts," said Paul Geller, CEO of Thankster. "By partnering with Honeymoonwishes, we make it easier for couples to say 'Thank you.' Streamlining the process gives users more time to write something detailed and heartfelt."

"Letting your guests know how much you appreciate their presence and gift is a very important part of tying the knot, and Thankster allows us to make it easy and fun," said Kristin Stark, Founder & President of Honeymoonwishes. "Our couples will not only be able to save time, but they'll also be able to personalize their cards like never before by adding photos and QR codes that link to wedding videos and honeymoon photos."

Registered Honeymoonwishes users can choose from hundreds of thank you card designs, or they can use cards that they already have. They then type their messages with handwriting fonts have been engineered to look completely authentic (using real variation in the characters and other techniques). They can choose a handwriting that is close to their own and make adjustments to more closely approximate it. Users are also able to create and use a font derived from their own handwriting. Personalizing individual messages is easily done, and users suffering from writer's block can search through an extensive library of sample messages to get them started. To make things even easier, couples can automatically copy one message to any or all of their recipients, eliminating the need to repeatedly type the same parts over and over. Thankster then prints, stuffs and mails the cards directly to the recipients.

Geller said, with a wink, "This partnership is a match made in heaven."

About Thankster

Headquartered in New York City, Thankster combines the electronic world with an offline, personal touch, by allowing consumers and businesses to quickly create high quality personalized notes, thank you cards, and other missives (such as holiday cards and various types of greeting cards) with authentic looking handwriting. Thankster then prints, stuffs, posts and mails the cards. The company has many handwriting choices to choose from, or users can input their own. Users can buy cards individually, or save by buying an inexpensive subscription.
